Clarify the Problem

Required assessments identifying the health and welfare needs of individuals enrolled as clients of the Developmental Disabilities Administration sometimes get delayed resulting in assessments that are overdue. Overdue assessments may lead to a delay or interruption in a client's being able to access services to support critical health and welfare needs.

individuals to have healthy and active lives.

SO 1.1 Identify individual health and welfare needs in a timely manner in order to support

Breakdown the Problem

The percentage of assessments completed on time, reflects the need to develop strategies to support the on time completion of initial assessments and annual reassessments to improve delivery of services to clients.

Issues effecting the timeliness of assessments are:

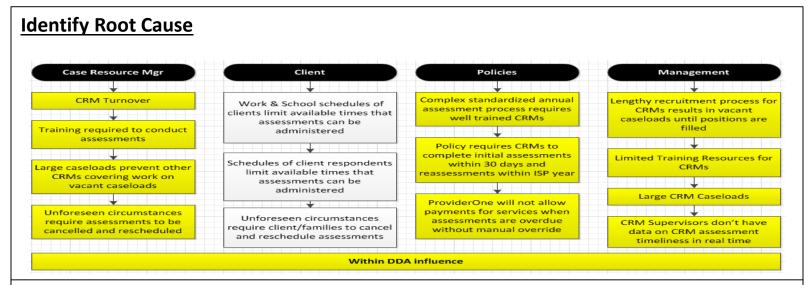

- Employee turnover resulting in unfilled case resource manager positions;
- Lengthy recruitment process resulting in caseloads remaining vacant until positions can be filled;
- High case load ratios preventing other case resource managers from covering required work on vacant caseloads;
- A complex, standardized assessment that requires individuals to be trained before they can administer the tool;
- A limited number of trainers to equip case resource managers with the knowledge and skills to conduct assessments in accordance with the rules and policies governing their completion;
- Unforeseen circumstances arise that require assessments to be cancelled and rescheduled

Target Condition

On-time completion of annual reassessments will increase from an average 98.4 percent in January 2015 to 99 percent in July

On-time completion of initial assessments will increase from 82.7 percent in January 2015 to 90 percent in July 2017.
